I recently got a small number of all types of cartolles, from the usual classic ones and some interesting ones, such as the one below: They are normally made by combining a paper tube, sealing it and wrapping it around the paper with the image (photo shop PS is required, right?) to make the cartolles. Why can they not be made the same way as the full-size cartolles? A: Miniature cartolles are made by rolling the image up onto a stick of some type. The paper tube is not part of the cartollo. 648931e174
